Applied Learning in the VCE

VCE VOCATIONAL MAJOR SPECIALISTS

What is Applied Learning?

- Applied learning refers to an educational approach whereby students learn by engaging in the direct application of skills, theories and models

Applied Learning is for VCAL only?

- Applied learning is in all subjects. The evolution of the concept of applied learning has increased with the increase in popularity of VCAL, however practical kinaesthetic learning exists in all subjects
- It is not the unit content which makes a subject academic or applied, it is how a teacher delivers and what resources are used which makes a subject applied

How do we include Applied Learning within a VCE subject?

- Applied learning has been in schools for decades and currently exists in the VCE in all subjects
- The VCE Vocational Major is not different and incorporates a mixture of practical and theory-based learning
- In 2023, teachers will use eduClicks content and will have a blended mix of ready-made resources focusing on both applied and theory-based learning

“eduClicks content is made by teachers for teachers and with over 40 years as leaders in education we have all your needs in one place – had copy, on line, engaging, that’s what we do”
